Abstract: This collection documents Gloria L. Fox's years as a Massachusetts State Representative (1986-2016).

SCOPE AND CONTENT

This collection documents Gloria L. Fox's years in the Massachusetts House (1986-2016). The collection reflects Fox's role as a state legislator and her involvement in criminal justice reform, health disparity issues, child welfare legislation, and the Roxbury community that she represented. Records include correspondence, memos, community organization materials, project plans, meeting agendas and minutes, conference materials, reports, photographs, news clippings and media, draft legislation, and budgets.

BIOGRAPHICAL/HISTORICAL NOTE

Gloria Lavera Fox was born on March 18, 1942. Raised as a foster child, she attended Boston and Everett public schools. After high school, she took college classes whenever she could, as well as completed the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Community Fellows Program. As a single mother of two young sons, she moved into the Whittier Street Housing Development in Roxbury. She worked there as a community organizer, but her real start as an activist began when she joined the movement to stop a section of Interstate-95 from running through her neighborhood. In a 2010 interview, she said of that time, "Some people thought that it could never be done. No one's ever fought a major interstate highway and won. That would have been a first, but we were determined that it was going to be the first". They did stop the highway and Fox remained dedicated to Roxbury. She was active on the Roxbury Strategic Master Plan Committee and the Roxbury Trust Fund Committee. She was also committed to the success of Roxbury Community College and the continued development of the Southwest Corridor.

Fox, a Democrat, first ran for public office in 1984, when she decided to challenge 7th Suffolk District incumbent Doris Bunte. She lost but ran again in 1986 when Bunte retired. She won and represented the 7th Suffolk District, which extends from Audubon Circle near Boston University to parts of Back Bay, the Fenway and Roxbury, for the next thirty years. In a 2013 Women in Government profile, Fox wrote, "As a State Representative, I have faithfully served the people of the Seventh Suffolk District for over 27 years. My work has always been guided by the input of the residents of my District. Throughout my adult life, I have advocated for the concerns of children and families and for human, social, and economic development issues brought forth by those constituents who need to be heard". Fox believed in inclusionary politics, which is reflected in her legislative work on criminal justice reform, child welfare and foster care, redistricting, Election Day voter registration, and eliminating health disparities in communities of color.

As a State Representative, Fox served on the House Committee on Redistricting; the House Committee on Rules; the House Committee on Steering, Policy and Scheduling; the House Committee on Ways and Means; House Personnel and Administration; the Joint Committee on Health Care Financing; the Joint Committee on Housing; the Joint Committee on Public Service; the Joint Committee on Revenue; the Joint Committee on Rules; the Joint Committee on Telecommunications, Utilities and Energy; the Joint Committee on Veterans and Federal Affairs; and the Joint Committee on Ways and Means. She served as a Vice Chair for the House Committee on Rules, House Personnel and Administration, the Joint Committee on Elder Affairs, the Joint Committee on Housing, and the Joint Committee on Rules.

Fox was a member of the Boston Delegation of the Massachusetts Legislature, the Massachusetts Caucus of Women Legislators, the Massachusetts Black and Latino Legislative Caucus, and the National Black Caucus of State Legislators. She was actively involved in the community as a member of the Urban League Guild of Eastern Massachusetts, the NAACP, the MIT Community Fellows Program Alumnae Association, and the Women's Service Club. She was also the founder of the Massachusetts Million Women March Movement.

When Fox retired from her seat in 2016, she was the longest-serving woman on Beacon Hill. Throughout her long career, she lived by her motto: "If you have a purpose in which you can believe, there's no end to the amount of things you can accomplish" (Marian Anderson).

Series II: Legislative Files, 1986-2015

Series II Subseries A: Criminal Justice Legislation, 1989-2015

Scope and Content

Criminal justice reform was one of Fox's main focuses as a legislator. This sub-series documents the work that she did in the community and in the State House to improve existing legislation and to create new laws that protected citizens without adversely affecting communities of color. Her main areas of concern included CORI (Criminal Offender Record Information) reform, juvenile justice, habitual offenders and the 3 Strikes Bill, and ex-offenders. She also worked on other issues, such as racial profiling in the law enforcement community and the Massachusetts Trial Courts, mandatory minimums, visitation rights, sentencing laws, teen violence, improvement in the Department of Corrections, and issues for incarcerated women. In addition, Fox was part of several commissions on Community Safety, Crime & Violence, and Criminal Justice Reform, as well as part of a long-running campaign to secure a commutation for Arnold King, a man serving a life-sentence for a crime committed when he was a teenager. Records include correspondence, memos, meeting agendas and minutes, reports, and draft bills.

Arrangement

Criminal justice files were found throughout the collection. The records were sorted and are organized alphabetically by topic, then chronologically within each topic.

Series II Subseries B: Health Legislation, 1996-2012

Scope and Content

This sub-series documents Fox's role in health care legislation, in which her main focus was health disparities in ethnic and racial communities. She sat on both the State Commission to Eliminate Health Care Disparities among Ethnic and Racial Minorities (2005) and the Council to Eliminate Racial and Ethnic Health Disparities (2007), as well as attended the NBCSL (National Black Caucus of State Legislators) Health Disparities Conference. She also served on the Joint Committee on Health Care Financing. Fox worked on legislation relating to lupus, a disease that disproportionately affects African-American women, AIDS/HIV issues as they relate to the African-American community, and recognition for community health workers. Records include correspondence, memos, meeting agendas and minutes, conference materials, reports, and draft bills.

Arrangement

Health care reform and health disparities files were found throughout the collection. The records were sorted and are organized alphabetically by topic, then chronologically within each topic.

Series II Subseries C: Child Welfare Legislation, 1986-2015

Scope and Content

This sub-series documents Fox's role in child welfare legislation. Fox herself was raised as a foster child and was a strong advocate for children and families throughout her career. She was a member of several committees, including the Governor's Blue Ribbon Commission on Foster Care (1992), the Legislative Committee on Foster Care (1995), the MA Legislative Foster Kid Coalition (2008), and the MA Foster Care Coalition (2010). She was also a special advisor for the House Special Committee on Child Abuse and Neglect (2007). Records include correspondence, memos, meeting agendas and minutes, reports, and draft bills.

Arrangement

Child welfare and foster care files were found throughout the collection. The records were sorted and are organized alphabetically by topic, then chronologically within each topic.

Series II Subseries D: Budget Legislation, 1995-2015

Scope and Content

Fox was a long-time member of the House Ways and Means Committee, the Joint Committee on Revenue, and the Joint Committee on Ways and Means. This sub-series documents her involvement in the annual state budget process. Records include reports, memos and correspondence from fellow legislators, constituents and organizations seeking funding support; testimony transcripts from Ways and Means committee meetings and budget hearings; Fox's budget priorities for her district and areas of interest; supplemental budgets and amendments; and the governor's recommendations and vetoes. Files for some years are more comprehensive than others, perhaps reflecting Fox's level of involvement during that year's budgeting process.

Arrangement

Budget files were found throughout the collection. The records were sorted and are organized chronologically by fiscal year.

Series II Subseries E: Other Legislation, 1995-2015

Scope and Content

This sub-series documents Fox's work, involvement and interest in legislative issues outside her main focus areas. Topics of note include Election Day Registration (EDR), the history of African-Americans in the Commonwealth, housing, public health safety as it related to the proposed Boston University BioLab (see also Series III, Sub-Series A: Projects), redistricting and voter rights, schools and education, and transportation. Fox was also involved in the Governor's Diversity & Equal Opportunity Initiative and the Democratic Platform Committee. Records include correspondence, memos, newspaper articles, testimonies and letters of support, reports, draft bills, dockets, and legislation.

Arrangement

Legislation files were found throughout the collection. The records were sorted and are organized alphabetically by topic. Folders may hold multiple pieces of legislation.

Series III: Subject Files, 1989-2016

Series III Subseries A: Projects, 1995-2014

Scope and Content

This sub-series documents Fox's work on various projects that affected her district. Some of the larger projects include the Boston University BioLab (see also Series II, Sub-Series E: Other Legislation), Fenway Park, Northeastern University, and the Route 28X Enhancements Project. Also included are smaller projects related to various institutions on the Fenway, such as Emmanuel College, Museum of Fine Arts, Simmons College, Wentworth Institute of Technology, and Wheelock College. Records include reports, Institutional Master Plans and associated materials, correspondence, media and news clippings, and meeting notes.

Arrangement

Project files were found throughout the collection. The records were sorted and are organized alphabetically by project.

Series III Subseries B: Organizations, 1989-2016

Scope and Content

This sub-series documents the many organizations, non-profits, city and government agencies, community and university programs, and professional societies that Fox interacted with as a legislator. The topics here reflect Fox's legislative interests – housing, child welfare, women and minorities, social justice, education, health, homelessness, transportation, and small businesses. Records include correspondence, invitations, organizational marketing materials and information, reports, publications, meeting agendas and notes, and media. Much of the material is addressed directly to Fox and is designed to garner support for the organization's cause, legislative agenda, and budget requests. Some organizations of note include the Affirmative Market Program, Boston Neighborhood Network (BNN), Boston Society of Vulcans (Black & Latino Firefighters), Caribbean American Carnival Association of Boston, Caucus of Women Legislators, Commission on the Status of Women, Daffodil Days fundraiser for the American Cancer Society, MassDOT, MassHousing, MBTA, the Million Woman March, NBCSL (National Black Caucus of State Legislators), NCSL (National Conference of State Legislatures), NOBEL (National Organization of Black Elected Legislative) Women, SOMWBA (State Office of Minority and Women Business Assistance), and Women In Government.

Arrangement

Organization files were found throughout the collection. The records were sorted and are organized alphabetically by organization.

Series III Subseries C: Massachusetts Black Legislative Caucus, 1990-2015

Scope and Content

This sub-series documents Fox's long-standing membership in the Massachusetts Black Legislative Caucus (MBLC), which focuses on issues and concerns affecting people of color in the Commonwealth. Although MBLC became MBLLC (Massachusetts Black & Latino Legislative Caucus) in 2009, most of the records here reflect the earlier name. Topics include the Urban Initiative Fund, discrimination in the Massachusetts Trial Courts, and the MBTA Civil Rights Task Force. Records include correspondence, by-laws, meeting agendas and notes, handouts, hearing transcripts, newspaper clippings, and press releases.

Arrangement

MBLC files were found throughout the collection. The records were sorted and are organized alphabetically.

Series III Subseries D: Roxbury Files, 1989-2016

Scope and Content

This sub-series documents Fox's commitment to her hometown of Roxbury, Massachusetts. Fox was involved in many organizations and projects in Roxbury in her capacity as a state legislator, as a member of the MBLC, and as a community leader. Topics include Melnea Cass Boulevard, Melnea A. Cass Facility (now Melnea A. Cass Recreational Complex), Roxbury Community College, Roxbury Strategic Master Plan, Roxbury Trust Fund Committee, and Safety Net. Many of the projects are interconnected with each other and with the overall Roxbury Strategic Master Plan, such as Bartlett Yards, Dudley Square, Jackson Square, Madison Tropical, Parcels 3/9/10/18, Ruggles Place, and Tremont Center. One file of note relates to the Southwest Corridor, which contains a transcript of an interview Fox gave about her early involvement with the project. Records include correspondence, handwritten notes, meeting agendas and minutes, budgets, project plans, proposals and associated materials, and reports.

Arrangement

Roxbury files were found throughout the collection. The records were sorted and are organized alphabetically.
